

TarValon.Net at JordanCon

Roswell, Georgia April 19-21, 2013

Introduction

JordanCon has continued to grow each year since 2009 and is celebrating its fifth event with the largest projected attendance in its history. This year's theme is "Tar Va'Con" – very well suited to our group! JordanCon is also celebrating its selection as host of this year's DeepSouthCon – the south's premier regional Science Fiction Convention, held every year in a different southern city. This year's convention features expanded programming and an impressive guest list including Seanan McGuire, Michael Whelan and Brandon Sanderson. TarValon.net continues to support this very important event again this year, and we're sure that all participants will have a fantastic weekend!
